State Dairy and Food Department.

Dairy and Food Commissioner Grosvenor comes out in the March bulletin just issued and says he thinks a change of policy of the department is necessary. The policy has been to molest as little as possible the retail dealer and to begin against the wholesalers. He says that after a thorough trial two facts stand out clear against this method: (1) That it is found very difficult to establish with sufficient proof that the goods gotten by the inspector were actually purchased by the retailer from a certain jobber. There arises so many doubts as to the identification of the goods that convictions are very uncertain, though the fact of violation be clearly established. (2) Although an expressed desire of wholesalers to have themselves prosecuted rather than questionable disposition to evade by every trick and technicality their responsibility whenever attacked.

In recent prosecutions against two corporations the commissioner scores them hard for their ingenious defense based upon vagaries and uncertainties of the statute.

Since the last bulletin was issued, five cases have been begun for violation of the anti-color oleomargarine law, two at Port Huron, one at Ecorse and two at Saginaw. One milk peddler at Saginaw was convicted and fined twenty dollars for selling adulterated milk; which he paid.

The commissioner speaks of the work now commenced in the laboratory upon baking powders and tells how the bill to regulate their manufacture and sale was turned down by the senate and the aid of lobbyists employed by alum baking powder manufacturers at the last session of the legislature. He gives a warning to consumers, and says: "In the early part of March

it was learned that a man giving the name of H. H. McCuen had taken a large number of orders from consumers direct, at Battle Creek, for teas, coffees, spices. baking powders, etc., for future delivery. For two weeks this department had an inspector watching for the party, who was slow in making the delivery. On March 29th it was reported that a car load of these goods had arrived at the Chicago & Grand Trunk depot. The next day a stranger giving his name as Nelson Mayer began delivering and collecting on these orders. He hired a conveyance, and, having notified the purchasers beforehand, delivered a small part of the orders before a sample of the goods could be obtained and tested. A warrant was issued and he was A warrant was issued and he was arrested and arraigned before Justice Lewis on the charge of disposing of a can of impure mustard. pure goods could have been purchased of the home merchant.

"The plan usually followed by these viclators of the pure food laws is to depreciate the class of goods sold by the local grocer and offer a seemingly pure article at a cheaper price. Seldom are these cases reported to the department until the delivery and collections have been made and the parties have sought other fields of operations."

The report of Dairy Inspector Barron shows that 17 dairies were visited during the month in Saginaw county. Cows were found part clean and part dirty; stables fairly clean; ventilation good; sanitary conditions poor; water supply good.

During the month State Analyst, Mr. F. H. Borradaile, examined 67 samples of food products, of which 23 were pure and 44 adulterated.

Seventy-two cities and towns were visited by the inspectors during the month, and the places of business carrying food products inspected.
